

Alabama International
Trade Center

THE UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA®

Position Available

Director, Research Center - International Business Development for Life Sciences and Technology Sector

Alabama International Trade Center, The University of Alabama

The University of Alabama is recruiting for the professional staff position of director research center for the Alabama International Trade Center (AITC), a UA business outreach program that provides export assistance to Alabama companies. The position is responsible for the daily administration of the AITC's new international business development program for the life sciences and technology sector. The director serves as a research ambassador and is responsible for developing new consulting opportunities. The director provides the leadership for the new AITC program and assists life science and technology companies in Alabama with growth and expansion into overseas markets. The director provides in-depth technical assistance to technology companies for entry and growth into foreign markets and instruction and training on international market development topics. Preferred qualifications include a master's degree in business and ten years of international business experience with life science or technology-based companies.

Visit UA's employment website for staff positions at www.jobs.ua.edu for more information and to apply. The deadline to apply is September 11, 2019. The University of Alabama is an equal-opportunity employer (EOE), including an EOE of protected veterans and individuals with disabilities.

Information about the University of Alabama's International Trade Center is available at:
www.aipc.ua.edu